

A. You tried to find out what happened? You knew what happened, the principal told you what happened.

Q. I did not know - the principal said that an allegation had been made and it would have to be investigated that nothing is concrete because anything like that, even minor, has to be investigated first and Stephen had been made a scapegoat before so that may have not even happened. The investigation could not happen because the kids were in Nova Scotia.

D

10 . . . . .
- . . . .
. . . . .

MR. TEED: My Lord, it's not what she says, it's what the client says.

15 MS. HOLLAND: Well, I draft it.

MR. TEED: But your client swears it.

20 THE COURT: Well, we all know that the lawyers draft these things for their clients and sometimes clients say well, "That's not exactly right over here on this page." And the lawyers say, "Forget it, they're not going to notice it, because we haven't got time to fix it we've got to go to court." So they are not always perfect, so long as there is not a big lie, then I'm all right. And of course, as you know, you've done